

Engr 610: Data Communications Protocols School of Engineering

Introduction to modern protocols. Layering of communications processes including the OSI model, TCP/IP. Standard communications functions and how they are achieved under the framework of these protocols. Performance analysis and error control.

Instruction Type(s)

• Lecture: Lecture for Engr 610

Subject Areas

- Engineering, General
- Electrical and Electronics Engineering

