

Thea 353: Devised Filmmaking

Theatre & Film

In this course, filmmakers and performers will collaborate on unique, improvisational-based devised film projects. The course will center the relationship between director, performer, and camera to foster an environment conducive to the creation of contained, performance-driven narratives. While not adhering to any one movement's specific codes, inspiration will be drawn from similar film practices such as the Dogme 95 and Mumblecore movements.
